3. Demographic characteristics

This section contains statistical data on the size of the population split by women and men, number of births, deaths, including by causes of death, migration flows.

In the section, there are also some other figures that overview demographic indicators characteristic of reproduction process in the population on the overall, and life expectancy at birth, summary birth rate.

Data on number of births and deaths is based on an annual statistical processing of information, collected from civil acts, prepared by RACS (Register of Acts of the Civil Status). Number of births is comprised only of born alive.

Live birth – is a complete exile or ejection of a product of conception from mother's body without dependence from duration of pregnancy, after such being separated the foetus can breath and show other signs of a life, such as palpitation, the pulsation of an umbilical cord or obvious movements of any muscles irrespective of whether the umbilical cord is cut and whether has separated a placenta..

Life expectancy at birth is a number of years that one person will live on average, provided that throughout the lifetime of this generation the rate of mortality at each age remains the same as during years when the indicator was calculated.

The birth rate by age groups is calculated as the relation of number of births in the year at women of the given age group to mid-annual number of women of this age.

The summary birth rate indicates the number of children an average women would give birth to throughout the entire reproductive period keeping the birth rate at each age the same as in the year when the coefficient was calculated. Its magnitude does not depend on the age composition of population and is characteristic of the average birth rate in a given calendar year.

Reproductive period (age) - time period during which the woman is capable to a child-bearing. For the statistical purposes in the majority of the countries conditionally accepted period of 15-49 years.

The mortality rate by death causes is calculated as a ratio of number of deaths by shown causes of death divided by an average annual number of the population according to current assessment (calculated per 100 000 people of the relative sex).

Maternal mortality is a number of female deaths caused by pregnancy complications, delivery and post-natal period complications per 100 000 live-born children.

Infant mortality – number of children's death aged less than 1 year per 1 000 born

Migration of population - the movement of people (migrants) across the borders of a region with a change of residence. The number of arrivals and departures is determined by the development coming from the application services of the Justice (citizenries) and the migration police of the structure of internal affairs (foreigners and stateless persons) tickets statistical records of arrival and departure, which are produced simultaneously with the address forms in the registration of the population place of residence.

In the current statistical record is now tentatively fixed number of arrivals (persons) and departures (persons), in reality we are talking about the numbers of arrivals and departures.

7. Employment and unemployment

This section contains information on the main indicators of the labor market, the number of employed population by employment status and economic activities, as well as engaged in harmful and dangerous conditions, the distribution of the unemployed by age and education. Data on average monthly nominal wage of employees.

Economically active population (labour force) – part of the population at the certain age defined to measure economic activity of the population providing labour force supply to manufacture products and to render services. Economically active population includes all employed individuals in all types of economic activities and unemployed.

Level of economic activity – share of economically active population to the entire population aged 15 and older, measured in percent.

Employed (working) population – all individuals at the certain age who according to their status for the short defined period of one week could be referred to one of the categories:

- a) Employed (paid) worker;
- b) Self-employed worker.

Employed (paid) worker – individuals contracted through a service agreement, a contract stipulating terms of payment in a form of salary, premium, raise etc., or in-kind payment.

Self-employment – unemployment in which there remuneration is directly depend on income generated from the production (realization) of goods and services (where own consumption is considered as part of income).

The unemployed are persons specified for measuring the economically active population, which in the period under review at the same time are responsible for three main criteria: were without work (did not have gainful employment), actively engaged in the search, were ready to get to work for a certain period of time.

Level of unemployment – ratio of unemployed to the number of economically active population, assessed in percent.

Number of employees working under hazardous and dangerous work conditions includes workers who have at least one industry factor exceeding MAC (maximum allowed concentration of chemical substance and industrial dust) at their working places or MAL (maximum allowed level of element), identified by sanitary regulations.

Wages and salaries – remuneration of labour according to complication, quantity and quality.

Average monthly nominal wages and salaries of one employee are calculated by dividing the accrued labour remuneration fund to the actual number of employees and number of months in the reporting period.
